Madison schools narrow search

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

The Madison School Board plans to trim the number of candidates for school superintendent to a maximum of six with two special meetings this week.

The board met in special session at 5:30 p.m. Monday to continue discussion concerning the replacement of outgoing Superintendent Dan Kostencki.

The board met in closed session to discuss the applicants. Board President John Hamm reported that so far there are approximately 12 who have applied for the position. He said about half of them are from the area, one is from South Dakota, one from Wyoming and a couple from the Normal area.

The deadline for application to the position was Tuesday, July 19.

The board planned to narrow the number of applicants down to four to six at another meeting to be held Tuesday evening.

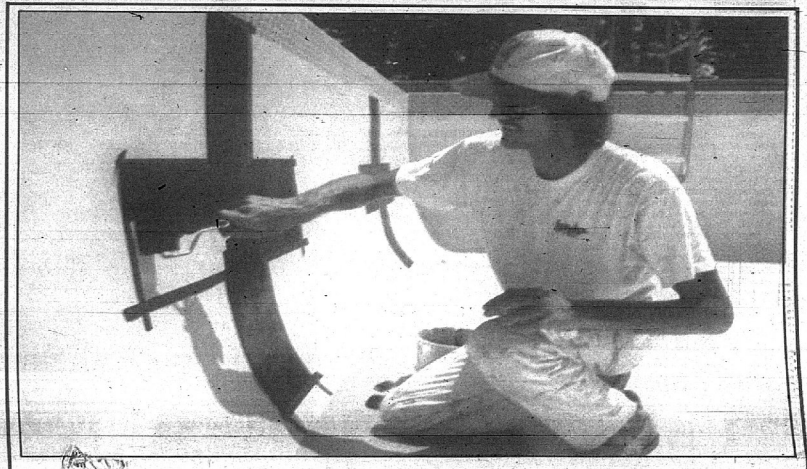

The board hopes to make a recommendation for superintendent at the next regular meeting scheduled for Thursday, July 21. However, the chances of choosing a superintendent that night are slim as there are interviews yet to be conducted.

Outgoing Superintendent Dan Kostencki announced last month that he had accepted the same position in the Belvidere School District near Rockford in northern Illinois. The board decided July 1 to conduct its own search for superintendent, rather than take the offer of the Illinois Association of School Boards to head the search at a cost of $3,000.

The board planned to narrow the number of applicants down to four to six at another meeting to be held Tuesday evening.

In other business at Monday's session, the board approved six individuals to fill open teaching positions. Rebecca Sedabres will teach fourth grade at Harris, Tammy Wickham was approved for third grade at Blair, Willard Owens will team teach sixth grade math, Leanne Sterner will teach science on the seventh grade team, Dwight Lockhead will teach math on the eighth grade team and Sandra Vogel was approved to teach high school math.

There are still four slots left to be filled at Madison schools, including two special education positions, one kindergarten position at Harris and Chapter One Reading position at the middle school.

Man dies at Granite City Steel

One man died early Tuesday, apparently from exposure to carbon monoxide, as a result of an accident at Granite City Steel.

Granite City Fire Chief Keith Talley said that ambulances responded to the steel mill at approximately 7:40 a.m. Tuesday.

"One patient didn't make it. Five others were ambulatory and taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for testing," Talley said.

"We're not sure if it was a chronic exposure or something sudden," Talley said.

He said that firefighter paramedics responding to the scene observed what appeared to be burns on the dead man's body.

Authorities did not identify the victim, nor the others taken to the hospital.

Bob Maxwell, director of public relations at Granite City Steel, was unavailable for comment at press time Tuesday.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said that a deputy coroner was called to the scene on Tuesday morning, and later went to SEMC but that she had no other information by press time.

Tomato contest under way again

The "dog days" of summer are here and bring with them some of the most appetizing tomatoes grown in vegetable gardens throughout the Metro East.

But don't bite into that big red yet. The Journal's fourth annual Big Tomato Contest is nearly upon us.

Bring your biggest homegrown tomato into the Press-Record/Journal office, 1815 Delmar Avenue, during regular business hours over the next three weeks, and we'll weigh it in. Each week, we'll give $10 to the person who brings in the largest homegrown tomato.

The first weekly contest begins July 25. Deadline to enter is 2 p.m. each Friday. Tomatoes entered after the deadline will be entered in the following week's contest.

No repeat winners will be allowed and all contestants must sign a form saying they actually grew their entry.

Winners will be announced in the following Wednesday's newspaper.

Merchant robbed, beaten

A telephone call Sunday morning just may have saved Don Caughron's life.

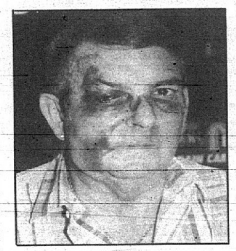

Caughron, 59, was robbed and brutally beaten while working alone in his hardware store in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue in downtown Granite City.

"I'm just thankful that telephone started ringing and scared (the robber) away. I think he would have killed me if it hadn't," Caughron said.

Caughron was beaten with a heavy object — most likely a paint can — and robbed of his jewelry and about $2,500 cash just before 10 a.m. Sunday shortly after opening the business. Caughron, who suffered a broken nose, a shattered eye socket, a fractured shoulder and bruises all over his body, was working alone at the time.

Police are investigating.

Caughron said he had just opened the store and was standing behind the service desk when a customer entered the store and asked about a paint brush. Caughron directed the man to the paint section, but left the counter and went over to help the customer when he asked about a specific type of paint brush.

Don Caughron

"He just blind-sided me. He hit me with his fist and I went down. Then he kept kicking me and hitting me with something heavy — I'm not sure what it was," Caughron said.

The robber, who Caughron described as a white male in his mid-20s to early 30s, 5-feet 9-inches tall, weighing between 160 and 180 pounds and having stringy brown hair, took the rings off of Caughron's fingers and the cash from Caughron's front pants pocket.

When Caughron had difficulty removing one of several gold rings from his finger, the robber became agitated and threatened to cut the finger off, Caughron said.

"I didn't fight him or anything. I just asked him not to kill me. I even offered him the

Changing lives: 200 teens crusade here

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

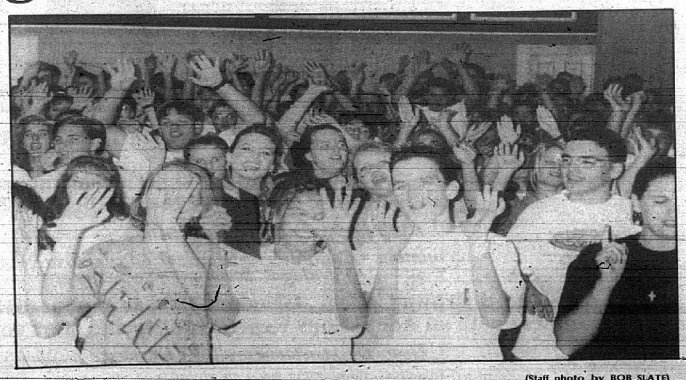

If a teenager in a colorful t-shirt approached you over the weekend and handed you a ticket for free hamburgers or pizza to be served at Granite City High School, you were not alone.

More than 200 "Frontliners" invaded the Granite City area over the weekend as a part of the "Quad Cities Crusade for Christ," an evangelistic crusade sponsored by a number of churches in the area.

Since arriving Saturday in Granite City, the Frontliners have distributed about 10,000 tickets for free hamburgers and soft drinks and about 20,000 tickets for free pizzas that are being offered as a part of the crusade.

The Frontliners — teens from Baytown, Texas; Berryville, Rogers and Eldorado, Arkansas; and Bemis, Tennessee, as well as local youths — are promoting the crusade, which includes nightly services held in the Granite City High School

LAWW calls for hotline volunteers

By Neal Learner
Staff writer

As the result of increased demand, officials with the Legal Advocates for Abused Women (LAAW) are calling for more volunteers to staff their crisis hotlines.

Beginning next month, the agency will increase their hot line by two hours each weekday. The new times will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., up from the current hours of 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Susan McDowell, LAAW client services manager, said the longer hours are meant to better serve the community.

"We're trying to provide more accessibility for our clients," McDowell said. "We have had an increase in calls. This will make it more convenient for women who have to work. We want to get more information out there."

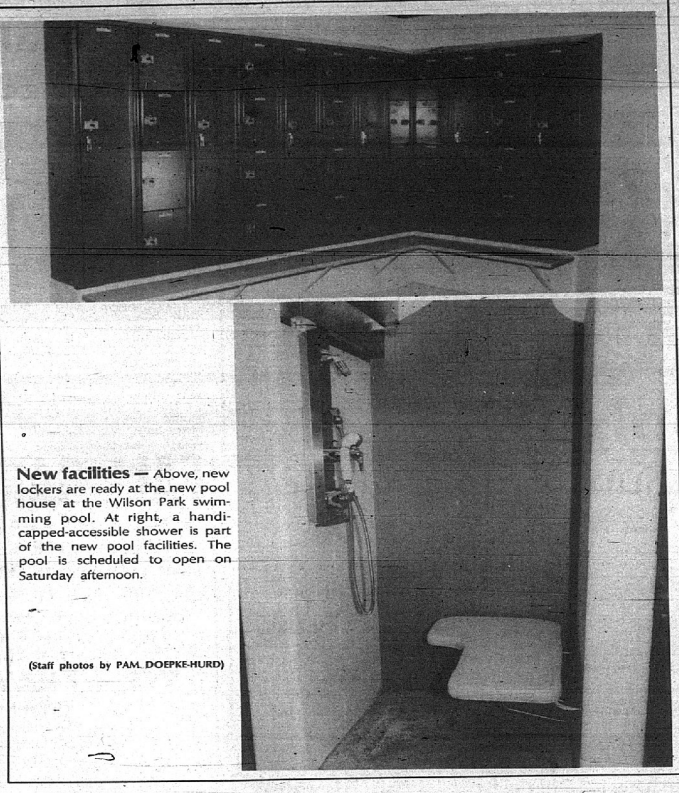

LAAW, 625 N. Euclid Ave. in the Central West End in St. Louis, provides a range of crisis-support services and legal advice for women and children experiencing domestic violence.

The agency served 1,619 women in 1993, a jump of more than 23 percent over 1992, said executive director Sheila Kelleher.

"It's hard to attribute it to one particular incident," Kelleher said. "We are a source to more and more people in and around the St. Louis area."

The advocacy group also provided crisis services to more than 1,700 children in 1993. Calls to the hot line have been up recently, but Kelleher said she doesn't feel that necessarily has been caused by the publicity surrounding the O.J. Simpson case.

The LAAW hot line number is (314) 454-6910 or 1-800-444-0514.

'Mustard Bandits' debut at airport

Two arrested in theft

By Kristin Bakker
Staff writer

Members of the "Mustard Bandits" had their first appearance at the Lambert-St. Louis International Airport on Monday but were quickly apprehended by airport police, said airport officials.

Kathy Leonard, the airport's public relations manager, said two men allegedly stole the belongings of a New York businessman and his sister after distracting them with a mustard stain — a tactic apparently employed at airports all over the country by a gang known as the Mustard Bandits.

"At approximately 10:30 a.m. on Monday, two Hispanic men apparently squirted mustard on the back of a New York businessman's coat," Leonard said. "After distracting him and his sister about the stain, one man took the (businessman's) briefcase and wallet and the other took the sister's purse."

One of the bandits was quickly apprehended by security at the airport, not far from the incident, Leonard said, but the other bandit ran out of the terminal and escaped in a car.

The airport police followed the car to St. Charles Rock Road at Cyprus Road,where the bandit's car hit a curb, activating the airbags. The man then abandoned the vehicle and escaped from police on foot.

However, the police searched the car, finding the stolen items as well as information about the hotel where the men were staying — the Airport Marriott. They arrested the man when he returned to the hotel.

Both arrested men — Joel Hernandez, 32, and Jorge Benitez, 33 — are citizens of Peru and are in the country illegally. They both carried forged passports and driver's licenses from Argentina, airport police said.

Hernandez and Benitez have been charged with felony stealing and are being held in the county jail. The Department of Immigration and Naturalization is working on having them deported back to Peru upon completion of the judicial action.

The gang periodically commits similar crimes at airports throughout the country, officials said. Hernandez and Benitez both have been arrested by airport police in Chicago and New York City.

Airport police have known about the gang since at least 1991, Leonard said, but this is the first known incident at the St. Louis airport.

National Steel sees progress at facility

National Steel Corp. officials announced last week a conditional transportation agreement with a railroad company.

National said the agreement could help end a nearly year-long shutdown of its pellet company facility in Keewatin, Minn.

The conditional agreement with the Burlington Northern Railroad — not to be formalized until negotiations with other stakeholders are complete — is one piece of a "jigsaw puzzle" that could eventually lead to the reopening of the idled facility, said Robert M. Greer, National Steel senior vice president and chief financial officer.

The facility is the National Steel Pellet Company's iron ore mining and pelletizing plant.

National Steel previously said that reopening of the idled Keewatin taconite facility was contingent on all involved stakeholders contributing to a cost reduction of $4 per ton from 1993 figures.

"This conditional agreement would provide NSPC the necessary cost reduction in the transportation area," Greer said.

"This agreement will continue Burlington Northern's partnership with National Steel. It should help make NSPC pellets the preferred blast furnace feed for National's Granite City Division," Greer said.

Other pieces of the puzzle that must still be put in place are a recently negotiated new labor contract with United Steelworkers of America Local 2660 in Keewatin that has yet to be ratified by the union membership; and an agreement with Minnesota Power Co. for electrical power. The company announced a conditional agreement with Minnesota Power on Tuesday.

"The conditional transportation, power and labor agreements represent substantial progress toward achieving (the $4 per ton) goal," Greer said.

Schools, state facilities get boost from budget

The spring session of the Legislature that ended last week helped schools and state facilities in this area.

The state budget, signed by Gov. Jim Edgar in his Downers Grove hospital room Wednesday, provides state aid increases for most area school districts while maintaining staffing and spending levels for the area's state facilities and major construction projects.

The area's most influential lawmaker, House Majority Leader Jim McPike, D-Alton, who is leaving office in January, found his final spring session frustrating in other respects but said, "If we accomplished nothing else, we got education another $30 million" over Edgar's original March budget plan.

McPike also noted the final state budget maintains operating budgets and staffing levels at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, after cutbacks in recent years.

With the exception of the additional money for schools and $800,000 toward an interpretive center at the Lewis and Clark State Historic Site near Hartford, the operating funds and multimillion-dollar construction projects at Pere Marquette State Park and Lewis and Clark Community College were part of Edgar's original budget in March.

Rather than adding "pork" projects in final budget negotiations, Rep. Tom Ryder, R-Jerseyville, the chief House Republican budget negotiator, said he "tried to get the things for our communities by getting the governor to put them in his budget upfront."

He said the area "did well in a difficult year since we maintained services of state agencies and the school districts are getting extra funds they didn't anticipate."

The bill sought by Madison County officials to permit continuing a county jail construction tax for expansion of the overcrowded facility was the only specifically local measure to go to Edgar's desk.

The legislation was in jeopardy earlier in the session but finally passed Tuesday, the final night. Sheriff Bob Churchich credited Rep. Jay Hoffman, D-Collinsville, for "staying on top of this for us — he did one hell of a good job."

When it comes to beauty...
Mum's The Word!
by the experts at
FRANK'S® NURSERY & CRAFTS
Where Beautiful Things Begin

The main attraction. Center stage. Top billing. Sounds more like a Broadway play, but the chrysanthemum is what we're talking about. Yes indeed, these beauties are a tough act to follow in any garden. Their brilliance brings the gardening season to a close in the fall like no other flower.

We'll call them "mums" from now on, since it makes for easier reading and better use of space.

The new hybrid varieties of mums today are noted for both early bloom and winter hardiness. The season of bloom has been significantly increased. It's now possible to enjoy mums not only in this area, but in regions much farther north.

The mum is a large genus of annual and perennial herbs belonging to the Aster family. Some species, such as pyrethrum and shasta daisy, bear ornamental flowers even during the summer months. The garden mum, the most famous of all, is the showiest of all fall blossoms. Its flowers are pleasantly musk scented, and they're available in many sizes.

Mums grow best in soil with a pH that is just below the neutral point. If the soil has a tendency to be acid, lime should be applied. A light, rich, well-drained soil is ideal.

Mums have hearty appetites and require plenty of plant food to attain maximum development. Liberal quantities of manure or compost should be added to the flower bed before planting.

In sunny, well-drained locations, individual specimens set at 2-foot intervals become masses of bloom when little else remains, since mums are late-season bloomers and are able to withstand light frosts. Taller varieties can enhance garden borders quite well, while the low growers are fine as edging, in urns and tubs, rock gardens, or foundation plantings next to evergreens.

Most taller mums are superb for cutting. The flowers will last two or three weeks in water, but the leaves should be removed from the submerged portion of the stem. Mums are also excellent when arranged with fall foliage or berried branches.

Thousands of mum cultivars have been developed, and classification of the many types is based mainly on flower form and growth habit.

Cushion: The dwarf hardy spreading type.
Decorative: The most common garden type. Petals are regularly or irregularly reflexed. The flowers are an inch and a half to several inches across, with the petals varying in length.
Pompon: The flowers are usually spherical and not over 4 inches across. Some have curved petals in the center of the flower head.
Spoon: The disk florets (those that form the central "eye") are rather flat, while the ray florets (those that form the "petals") are regularly arranged and spoon-shaped.
Single and Daisy-flowered: The disk florets form a daisy-like "eye" in the center, while the ray or petal-like florets are arranged in not more than five rows.

Mums aren't immune. Disease can strike, especially in crowded or starved plants. Try to give your plants plenty of room with good air and adequate sunlight, and you'll increase their chances for a long, healthy life.

Off-track betting OK'd for Alton Belle

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Racing Board has lifted the gate for an off-track betting parlor at the Alton Belle docking area.

Fairmount Park Racetrack will run the parlor in leased space at the Alton Landing.

Racetrack representatives told the Racing Board, which approved the Alton operation 7-0 last week, that projections call for 140,000 patrons betting a total of $14 million a year.

Alton and Madison County will each get a 1 percent tax share from the wagers at the parlor. If the projections come true, that would mean $140,000 a year each for the city and county. The state will get a 3.25 percent tax.

"I don't foresee any major obstacles. I think late July or early August will be the opening," Fairmount Park general manager Brian Zander said.

> 'I don't foresee any major obstacles. I think late July or early August will be the opening.'
> — Brian Zander
> Fairmount manager

The Alton parlor will be one of 23 in the state and the second at a floating casino's dock. The docking area for the Empress in Joliet has the other horse parlor.

The Alton parlor will carry regular live television broadcasts of races at Fairmount and Chicago area tracks, as well as special major races such as the Kentucky Derby and the Breeders' Cup.

The Racing Board also approved a request by Arlington Park Racecourse to take over Fairmount's previous license for an OTB parlor in Quincy. Fairmount Park will continue to manage the Quincy parlor as a subcontractor, Zander said.

Because Fairmount Park can operate no more than five OTB parlors under state law, it had to give up one to open in Alton.

Racing Board OTB supervisor Scott Carpinelli said the $14 million anticipated for the Alton parlor would be about in the middle of the performance levels of OTB parlors last year.

The Alton parlor will accommodate 90 people and have both machines and tellers taking wagers.

The adjacent existing sports lounge at the Alton Landing, seating another 200, also will be equipped with TVs to watch races.

High-profile races, such as the Kentucky Derby, can also be broadcast into a banquet room.

Nurse vice president is named

Sister Mary Michael McCulla, of the Congregation of the Sisters of Divine Providence, will be the vice president of Nursing Services at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, said Ted Eilerman, president.

McCulla

Sister Mary Michael is an American Nurse Association certified geriatric nurse practitioner and gerontological clinical nurse specialist.

She earned a master's degree in gerontological nursing from St. Louis University. She received her bachelor's degree in nursing at Marillac College in St. Louis.

She has practiced nursing for more than 25 years in various capacities, including critical-care nursing and nursing administration at SEMC. She was an SEMC associate from 1967 to 1984.

"It will be good to be back at SEMC," Sister Mary Michael said. "I feel as if I'm coming home again and look forward to sharing in the ministry of SEMC."

Federal funds help Oasis make repairs

The Oasis Women's Center is making repairs to the building that shelters 1,000 to 1,500 people a year, thanks to additional federal money.

The center for victims of domestic violence will receive $17,688 from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for repairs and operating expenses.

That's about $5,000 more than Oasis usually gets from the federal Community Development Block Grant program administered by Madison County.

Abused women and children are given shelter at Oasis and can attend in-house classes on problem-solving and family issues.

Director of Madison County Community Development Cheryl Jouett said the center gets federal funding every year to maintain operations.

This year the center is also getting money for repairs to the former Savoy Hotel.

"Fire doors will be replaced because of wear and tear and weathering," said Margarette Trushel, Oasis executive director. "And the floor in one utility room needs to be repaired and replaced. It's not safe.

"We are really grateful" for the additional money, she added.

Federal money is also to be used to keep the 24-hour hot line open. Volunteers and paid workers answer three phone lines, giving out information on domestic violence and talking to people about their problems.

The federal money is used for "different things, different years," according to the centers' needs, Trushel said.

This year, the extra money will go for repairs, she said Monday. "We have already gotten esti mates. We are now selecting a vendor and purchasing."

The Oasis funding is part of the $109,000 in Community Develop ment Block Grants administered by Jouett's office.

Money will also be allocated to Crisis Services of Madison County Inc. in Wood River, Phoenix Crisis Center in Granite City and the Alton Salvation Army.

Most "facilities basically use the money for operating services," Jouett said.

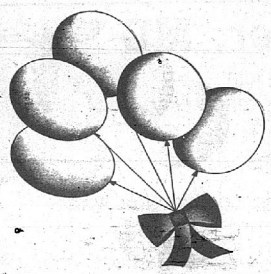

The task force is made up of church members whose churches will provide overnight shelter for the homeless if other shelters are filled.

Note buyers to continue lawsuit against GermaniaBank

GermaniaBank customers will not let a judge's decision stop their battle to recover $10 million lost in capital notes.

Note holders will quickly move to go to trial in a civil lawsuit to recover their money, said lawyer Frank Duda, who represents customers who bought the uninsured notes.

"Germania note buyers lost their money in a fraudulent scheme," Duda said. "They'll never give up until they have their day in court."

U.S. District Judge William Beatty of Granite City on July 8 sentenced two former bank officials to prison on fraud charges but refused to order them to pay back money to note holders.

Former Germania chairman Edward Morris and former bank president Steven Gardner were each sentenced to three years and 10 months in prison.

Morris, 51, of Ladue, Mo., and Gardner, 46, of Chesterfield, Mo., were convicted last November of mail and wire fraud in a 1987 scheme to sell $10 million in uninsured notes to 800 customers.

Beatty declined a request by Assistant U.S. Attorney Bruce Reppert to order $5.2 million in restitution from each defendant.

Morris and Gardner do not have the money to repay the note holders, Beatty said.

But note buyers are determined not to let the judge's decision stop their fight to recover their money in a civil lawsuit.

"The judge's ruling has made us more determined to go after our money," said note holder Mabel Dickson of Cahokia.

Dickson sank $229,000 of her life savings in the subordinated notes, called "schnotes," in 1987.

Duda and lawyers John Dale Stobbs of Alton and Rod Pitts of Wood River teamed up last November to file an amended lawsuit for customers who bought the notes.

The lawsuit asked for $10 mil lion from Morris, Gardner, former chairman Joseph Mason, other Germania officers and the federal Resolution Trust Corp., the bank's receiver.

The lawyers filed a class-action lawsuit on behalf of 800 note buyers, many of whom put their life savings in the investments.

Duda said he will ask a judge to order the Resolution Trust Corp. to pay a share of money to note holders.

The Office of Thrift Supervision seized Germania in June 1990 and appointed the RTC to manage the thrift. "The RTC sold Germania properties and dissolved the bank," Duda said.

"The RTC used part of the $10 million paid by schnote holders to pay Germania's bills and creditors," Duda said. "The RTC should return that money to the note holders."

RTC lawyers will ask the judge to dismiss the federal agency from the lawsuit, said Jane Jankowski of the RTC.

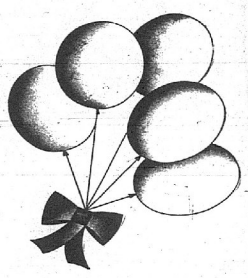

"The RTC should not be a defendant in the lawsuit," she said.

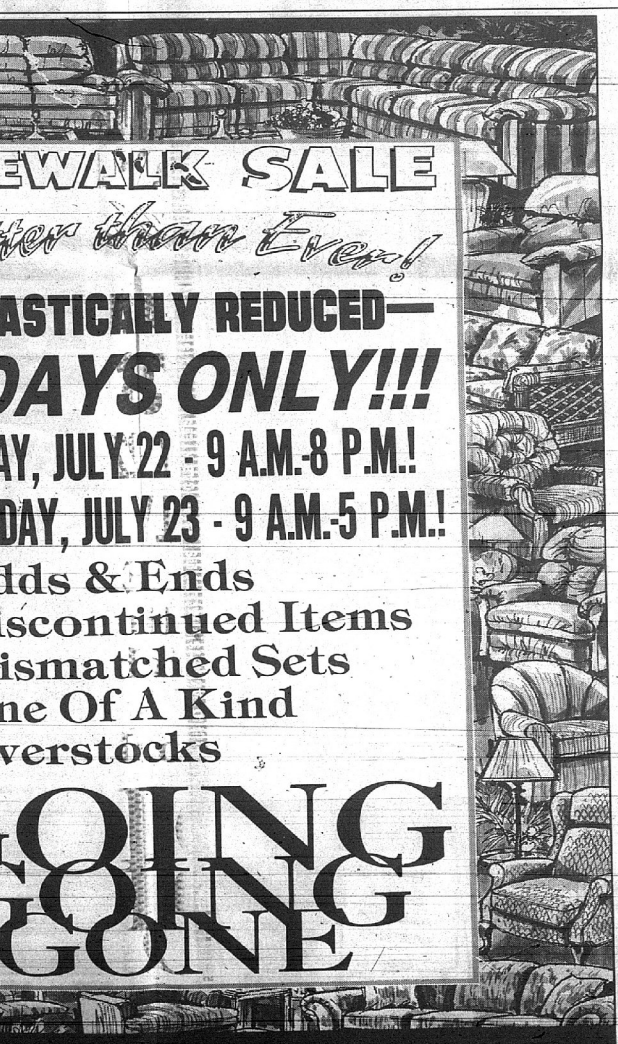

Beatty accepted the lawsuit in March and lawyers are hopeful it can go to trial this fall.

"All of us note buyers will never give up until we can tell our stories in court," Dickson said. "The bank cheated us out of our life savings and we want our money back."

money from the cash drawer. But the phone started ringing and he got nervous and left after the fourth or fifth ring," Caughron said.

"He took off on foot going (south) on Delmar," Caughron said.

Caughron managed to call 911.

"I was covered with so much blood, I couldn't hardly see to dial," he said.

Police responded immediately and combed the area in search of a suspect but came up empty-handed, said Assistant Police Chief Kip Pomeroy.

Ambulance personnel treated Caughron for his injuries, but Caughron refused transportation to the hospital.

Caughron spent the remainder of the weekend undergoing tests. His right eye will have to be repaired surgically, doctors said.

Caughron's wife, Gitta, is just glad her husband is still alive.

"I really do believe the guy meant to kill him," she said.

"That's the last time I open up the store on a Sunday morning — at least while I'm alone," Don Caughron said.

gymnasium this week.

Kelly Green — not the color but the evangelist associated with Billy Graham's ministry — is the crusade's featured speaker each night in the high school gymnasium. He will be speaking again at 7 p.m. tonight, the last night of the crusade.

Green, who was a member of the Church of Latter Day Saints (Mormons), has been associated with a Lutheran Sunday School movement, has attended Catholic Mass and is now a Baptist, jokingly characterized himself as a "one-man ecumenical movement."

But, Green said Sunday night as the crusade kicked off, the crusade at the high school "has nothing to do with 'religion'."

"This crusade is not about Catholicism or Protestantism, not about the Methodist church or the Baptist church. It is not about 'religion'.

"It is about changing lives," Green said.

"It is about a personal relationship with Jesus Christ."

He said the "Frontliners" have been compared to the Crips and the Bloods, gang movements that are growing across the country.

"There really is a lot of truth to the comparison. The gang members wear colors and the Frontliners wear colors. The gangs actively recruit members and have an impact on lives and so do the Frontliners," Green said.

"But what the Crips and Bloods are doing in a negative sense, these kids are doing in a positive way," he said.

Eulie and Jean Rich are not associated with the crusade, but reside next door to Calvary Baptist Church where the Frontliners meet each day to pray, study the Bible and get training in techniques to recruit people to attend the nightly services.

"We are so excited that these young people are here. They were outside in small groups praying and reading their Bibles (Monday) morning. People would drive by in their cars and slow down and just look. I guess wondering what these children were doing," Jean Rich said.

"It is so wonderful to see young people doing something that is positive, especially with all the crime and violence we see today," she said.

"I was hoping our hometown newspaper could come out and show the community something positive that is going on," Eulie Rich said.

After morning training, the Frontliners hop into vans and buses and spread out through the community, distributing promotional materials and telling others how their lives have been changed for the better.

Ronnie Hill, a youth pastor from Fort Worth, Texas, is in charge of training the Frontliners.

"This is not just a one-week crusade of sin decisions. It is training these kids to change people's lives. And when they go back to their hometown, they will be able to have an impact there, too," Hill said.

"It really has a multiplying effect."

The Frontliners are being hosted in the homes of nearly 100 families associated with various churches throughout the Quad City area.

Emily Bridges, a recent Granite City High School graduate, is one of the local Frontliners. Her family is also hosting three girls from Berryville.

"This is really an awesome experience. The Frontliners will go up to anybody, regardless of their race or age or whatever, and tell them about Jesus," Bridges said.

She said her church's youth group plans to be Frontliners next summer in a different community.

"I've met a whole bunch of new friends. I hope we can get together next year with the friends we made this year," Bridges said.

Green praised the Granite City School Board for allowing the nightly services to be held in the high school gymnasium.

"A lot of times we don't get to use a public facility like this because people bring up the issue of separation of church and state. I think the board of education should be commended for allowing this to happen here," Green said.

Superintendent of Schools Steve Balen offered the opening prayer at the Sunday night service.

Free colon cancer test kits offered

The Medicine Shoppe at 3675 Nameoki Road is giving away free colon cancer test kits.

Burdge said the kits are available on a "first come, first served" basis.

He commented that the home tests are easy to use, only involving a sheet of paper. Nothing has to be sent to a laboratory.

Triplets end woes with rout

Win over East St. Louis snaps three-game slide

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

Tri-City broke a three-game losing streak and clinched second place in the North Division on Monday night, beating East St. Louis at Jones Park in a District 22 American Legion baseball game.

The Triplets broke out of a weeklong hitting slump and pounded East St. Louis 12-3 to improve their record to 13-8 in league play and 17-9 overall. East St. Louis fell to 4-14-2.

THE GAME, SCHEDULED to begin at 6 p.m., was delayed 15 minutes while East St. Louis waited for its ninth player to arrive.

After East St. Louis scored an unearned run in the bottom of the first, it looked as if Tri-City's offensive woes would continue. The Triplets' first eight batters were retired by East St. Louis starter Juan Mosley.

But No. 9 batter Brian Etherton reached on an infield single with two outs in the top of the third and Brian Kohler followed with a single to left field.

After a double steal, Sean Lakatos walked to load the bases and Tri-City got on the board when Mark Winfield drew a walk. Mosley then beaned Andy Roe to force in another run.

But the Triplets' big inning came in the fourth, when they scored seven times. Four consecutive hits with two out prolonged the rally and knocked Mosley (2-6) out of the game.

THE TRIPLETS GOT RBI singles from Kohler, Lakatos, Winfield and Roe and also benefited from two of East St. Louis' six errors in the game. Tri-City sent 11 batters to the plate in the fourth.

"That's more runs than we've had in the last week. We hit the ball well tonight and that's a good sign," Tri-City manager Doug Winfield said. "We have to get everybody hitting in order to score runs."

Junior Triplets knock off Wood River

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

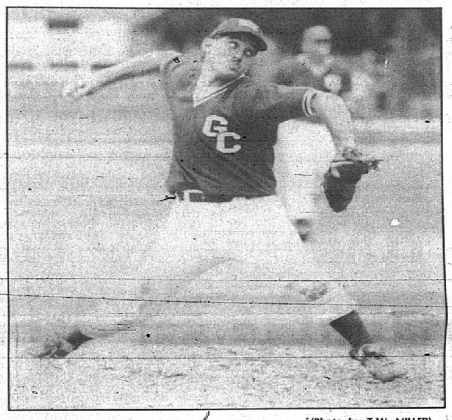

Fundamentally, these guys are on a serious roll.

The Tri-City Junior Triplets clinched second place in the District 22 North Division on Monday with a 4-3 win over third-place Wood River.

Three pitchers held Wood River at bay and Brad Ervay went 3-for-3 with a pair of RBIs to lead the visiting Triplets to their fourth consecutive victory in a league game at Dwiggins Field.

The Junior Triplets (14-7-1) have not been beaten since a July 9 loss to Edwardsville. Tri-City closes the regular season at 11-7 in league play, just one game back of North Division champ Alton (12-6).

TRI-CITY WILL BEGIN the postseason Saturday in Edwardsville and will once again face Wood River. That is the reason why Monday's starter, Shain Kuehnel, was pulled after three innings.

Brian Harshany picked up a victory in relief Sunday in Granite City's 4-2 second-game win over East Alton.

"I decided to only let Shain pitch three innings. That way I can come back with him on Saturday, and (Wood River) won't have seen him three or four times today," Tri-City manager Jerry McKechan said. "I made sure Shain understood why we were doing this."

Kuehnel started slowly, as the first four Wood River batters reached base. Fortunately for Kuehnel, leadoff hitter Dave Corby ventured too far off second on Damon Pederson's hit, and he was thrown out by center fielder Jon Reader. Then Pederson was caught stealing on the next pitch.

Once Kuehnel escaped the first, he was dominant in his other two innings, retiring the last seven he faced.

Meanwhile, his teammates were chipping away at Wood River starter Nate Mabb. Ervay was the hero in the second and the fourth innings. Each time, he stroked a two-out hit — first to right field and then to left — to drive in the Junior Triplets' first two runs.

Kuehnel then helped himself in the top of the fifth by driving in Brian Lloyd with a sacrifice fly. But Kuehnel's replacement, Jeremy Hoback, faltered in the bottom of the inning, as Corby drove in two with a single to left, and Matt Rogers added a sacrifice fly to tie the score 3-3.

Hoback redeemed himself in the sixth with two outs, starting a rally with a solid hit to left.

Eagles sweep Bullets, take division lead

Pitching, defense lead way past East Alton in M-C battle

By Pat Hutchison
Staff Writer

The lead in the Mon-Clair Baseball League's North Division is no longer in doubt.

The Granite City Eagles got strong pitching and defense and just enough hitting to sweep a doubleheader Sunday at Dal Maxvill Field from the East Alton Bon-Air Silver Bullets. The Eagles went to 18-4 in league play by beating Bon-Air 4-3 in eight innings in the opener, then shutting down the Silver Bullets 4-2 in the second game.

"This was very big," said Granite City player/manager Daren DePew, who caught both games Sunday. "It was a situation for us where winning one doesn't do us a whole lot of good."

A SPLIT WOULD have left both teams tied for the division lead, although it would have given East Alton three wins against Granite City on the season. But Bon-Air, which had swept the Eagles the first day of the season at Van Preter Park, went to

Southern kickers settle for second

Pioneer tops men's squad in Prairie State title game

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

The Southern Region's last bid for a gold medal in soccer in the 1994 Prairie Soccer Games ended when the men's open team lost 3-2 to Pioneer.

The championship game, played Sunday afternoon at Becker Park in Peoria, was shortened to two 30-minute halves so the players could watch most of the World Cup championship match between Brazil and Italy.

"THE KIDS PLAYED well, but we just came up a little short," said Southern coach Norm Seim. "It was an even game, but they just had one more break than we did.

"We had some mental lapses late in the game (after taking a 2-1 lead). Getting the silver medal is a little disappointing because it means you had to lose a game to get it, but it's better than the bronze. You come up here to do your best and you take what you can get."

Southern opened pool play with a 4-1 win over Blackhawk, then defeated North Shore 2-1. On Sunday morning, Seim's team was awarded a victory over Windy City after the referees stopped the game with 22 minutes remaining in a 2-2 tie.

According to PSG officials, Windy City had to forfeit the game after repeated warnings about abusive language and its failure to correct a scorekeeping error which listed the wrong player as having received a red card.

"They went nuts when the guy

Southern women's squad wins bronze medal

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

To nobody's surprise, players from Granite City and Collinsville played key roles as the Southern Region scholastic women's soccer team claimed a bronze medal at the Prairie State Games.

Kami Kessel (Granite City) scored two goals and Jennifer Benson (Collinsville) scored once to support a solid effort by Collinsville goalkeeper Christi Miller as Southern beat West Central 3-1 in the third-place game.

"YOU'D ALWAYS LIKE to win the gold, but we had a good group of girls to work with," said Southern assistant coach Lisa Leach. "We'll be losing seven seniors from this team."

"This was a very well-rounded team," said head coach Mary Pat Leach. "We didn't have any weak spots."

Southern opened pool play with a 1-0 win over Blackhawk, then pounded Windy City 17-0 before losing 4-1 to Pioneer.

"Christi Miller really stood out," Mary Pat Leach said. "She made some awesome saves against Pioneer, otherwise we really would have been blown out of the water."

"Pioneer was a very strong and very fast team," Lisa Leach said. "We didn't play our game."

WHILE THE COACHES knew their team had talent, they weren't sure what to expect at the tournament.

"We never had the entire team there for practice," Mary Pat Leach said. "A lot of these girls were in tournaments on different teams. We would have liked to have had more practice games, but many of them were gone even the week before."

"We had to work a lot on passing," Lisa Leach said. "The girls had to try to get used to playing with each other."

Kessel had five goals in the tournament, including three against Windy City.

"I wish we could have won against Pioneer, but I'm pretty happy," Kessel said. "We had

'King of the Outlaws' reclaims race title at Tri-City Speedway

The King of the Outlaws expanded his domain Saturday by capturing his 375th career World of Outlaws "A" Main.

Steve Kinser led wire to wire to take the $5,200 winner's booty at Tri-City Speedway. Kinser's victory gives him 17 wins in 30 starts at the Granite City half-mile. He led by a full straightaway at the checkers.

"This Karl Kinser, Valvoline/Maxim has been running real good everywhere," Kinser said in victory lane. "I was running really hard, even with the big lead, because I felt comfortable doing that. So I just kept doing it."

Kinser survived three caution periods for stalled cars, but on each restart he disappeared into lapped traffic. Kenny Jacobs hung tough in second, but could only catch a glimpse of Kinser on the caution laps. Sammy Swindell, Joe Gaerte and Dave Blaney rounded out the top five.

PAT BOURKE LED the way in the "B" Main over Steve Beitler and J.C. Sulawske. The Vivarin Dash was won by Gaerte over Kinser and Swin-singles. The Triplets drew five walks and three other batters reached after being hit by pitches.

East St. Louis manager Don Stovall said his team didn't seem mentally prepared to play.

"Mosley probably ran out of gas, but we had been playing good ball the past four games," said Stovall, whose team has posted wins over Fairview Heights, Belleville and Cahokia in the past two weeks.

"The hitting, defense and pitching had been great, but we didn't have the support that we've had the past few games. The kids just seemed down for some reason."

East St. Louis' only earned run off Winfield (5-3) came in the sixth inning. After Anthony Brooks walked with two out, Dante Stovall lined an RBI triple to right-center field.

East St. Louis scored an unearned run in the seventh when Ed Scott scored on a wild pitch, but Winfield was in control for the most part.

The lefthander struck out 10 and gave up four hits and three walks. He struck out the side in the second and fanned two batters in three other innings.

"Mark looked a little bit rusty and he didn't seem to be as sharp with his fastball," Doug Winfield said. "Location-wise he had trouble, but it's hard to pitch with a big lead sometimes."

Mark Winfield practically owned the lower half of the East St. Louis lineup. Nine of the Kaskaskia College-bound hurler's 10 strikeouts came against East St. Louis' Nos. 6-9 batters.

•Juniors

Ervay followed with his third two-out hit of the game, and Mike Kalips drove in the game-winner with a sharp single to right.

Lloyd pitched two scoreless innings for the save, although it was not easy against Wood River — which finishes at least tied for third in the division at 9-9.

With the bases loaded in the seventh, Robert Strater grounded sharply to short, and Kuehnel made the play to preserve the win.

"All three of the pitchers pitched well today," McKechan said. "We are still playing well heading into the playoffs."

As a team, Tri-City is executing much better than it was just a couple of weeks ago.

"It's a matter of having them for the whole summer now," said Tri-City coach Chad Lignoul. "It takes kids a while to learn the basics, but these guys have done a lot right lately, and they are playing well at the right time of the year."

Triplets' attack sputters in three-game skid

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

The post-Jeff Ridenour era at Tri-City Post 113 is not off to a flying start.

After scrounging out a victory Friday night at Edwardsville, the Triplets completed a rough weekend Sunday, falling 3-1 at Fairview Heights.

On Saturday, Tri-City lost twice to a mediocre Roxana squad at Varsity Field, by scores of 3-2 and 5-1.

It was apparent Saturday that the Triplets were down after losing Jeff Ridenour for the season with a broken hand. They got two good pitching performances in the doubleheader, but defense and a lack of aggressiveness at the plate did them in.

The Triplets dropped to 12-8 in District 22 play and 16-9 overall. On Sunday, Tri-City hit the ball better, only to see their drives caught by Fairview fielders.

"We played 'at-'em' ball (Sunday) night," said Tri-City manager Doug Winfield. "Every time we had a chance to get back in the game, we would hit a line drive right to somebody.

"We were much more aggressive at the plate, and I was glad to see that. We just didn't have good hitting luck."

Fairview improved to 10-9 with the win. Pitcher Bryan Phillips went the distance Sunday night, allowing six hits, walking no one and striking out three.

Brian Kohler, Andy Roe and Jason Wood each had a pair of hits to pace Tri-City. Starting pitcher Matt Tieman also pitched well, allowing only two earned runs on eight hits.

Winfield said Kohler has done a good job in Ridenour's place.

"His defense has been good, and he has swung the bat very well," Winfield said. "You can't replace a player like Jeff, but Brian's done well in his place."

On Saturday, a pair of Roxana pitchers held the Triplets in check with only eight hits in game one and five in game two.

"Roxana's pitchers did a good job, but nothing special," Winfield said. "We just didn't attack the ball at all. I don't know what the problem was, if they just figured they couldn't score without Jeff, or what."

Kohler and Jason Talley each had two hits in the first game, and Brian Etherton accounted for the only RBI. Matt Krause took the hard-luck loss despite allowing only two earned runs.

Brady Arview had two hits and an RBI for Roxana in game one, and 6-foot-5 pitcher Pete Kleeman fanned nine en route to the complete-game victory.

In game two, the Tri-City offense could not get untracked. Joe Bickel carried a no-hitter into the fifth inning for Roxana. The Triplets managed to push across a run in the fifth using four consecutive bunt hits.

Joe Zellerman, Talley, Wood and Etherton all laid the ball down beautifully, but it turned out to be all the offense Tri-City could muster.

"(Roxana) took advantage of opportunities, and we did not," Winfield said. "We had runners on all night, we just couldn't get the hit we needed. We just did nothing at the plate."

Tri-City played its sixth game in seven days Sunday and had lost five of seven District 22 games heading into Monday's game at East St. Louis.

"We have been playing a lot of baseball recently, and I am sure that is a part of our problem right now," Winfield said. "But there is no excuse for the lack of intensity we showed (Saturday).

"It was good to see them bounce back Sunday, and hopefully we can keep it up and hang on to second place."

Tri-City is battling Collinsville and Edwardsville for second place in the North Division.

some good (scoring) chances against (Pioneer), but we just didn't take advantage of them.

"IT HELPS BEING familiar with each other. Most of us had played together on Prairie State teams or club teams in previous years. In (the third-place) game, we had a lot better passing than against Pioneer and our communication was better."

Other members of the team were Sarah Judkins, Andrea Froncheck, Heather Jalinsky, Mary Silhavy, Monica Roberts and Lori Wylie of Collinsville; Holly Farnsworth, Tonya Genovese and Staci Dowdy of Granite City; Jaime Henesy and Sarah Reeds of Alton; Shannis Stock of O'Fallon; Heather Murphy of Roxana; Alison Arnold of Edwardsville; and Cheryl Briddell from Ss. Peter & Paul Grade School.

"Christi Miller had a great tournament and so did Jennifer Benson," Kessel said. "Holly got our only goal in the first game.

"Our weakest part this weekend was defense. I don't think any of our defenders had played together before. They weren't used to each other's styles."

•Eagles

16-6 in Mon-Clair play and will face O'Fallon and Waterloo in its last two doubleheaders of the season.

"We just have to pick it up from here," Silver Bullets manager Jim Blackledge said.

Bon-Air failed to pick up runs during a couple of scoring chances in the second game. Todd Kunz and Shaun Watson had back-to-back singles with one out in the first inning, but the Silver Bullets couldn't push across any runs.

They had an even better opportunity in the fourth but managed to score just once. Watson led off with a double and Scott Posey and Hayden Powers both walked to load the bases. Watson scored when Eric Decker reached on a fielder's choice, but after starter Bob Spotanski went to a 2-0 count on Brian Kasting, DePew brought in Brian Harshany to pitch.

Kasting walked to again load the bases, but Harshany retired the next two batters in order. He shut out the Silver Bullets until the seventh, when Briggs walked and scored on an infield single by Kunz.

Harshany walked two and struck out four in relieving Spotanski, who walked two and fanned one.

"Harshany came in and we couldn't handle him," Blackledge said. "They're awfully hard to beat when their leadoff guy is on base all the time."

Tim Hogan

He was referring to Granite City's Tim Hogan, who went 6-for-6 in the doubleheader with two walks. Hogan scored three times, twice in the second game. All three times, his twin brother Jamie drove him in. Jamie Hogan, Granite City's No. 2 batter, had three hits in game two.

"Tim Hogan is striking the ball very well," DePew said. "He was right at .500 coming into today. And he's a switch-hitter. If they throw a left-hander, he sees the ball real well, and if they throw a right-hander, he sees it well."

Jamie Hogan scored another run on an error and Doug Duncan had Granite City's fourth run when he powered a fly ball to deep left field for a home run.

Another long fly ball, by John Spotanski, fell in for a double with one out in the bottom of the eighth of the first game and plated Harshany, who reached on an error, with the winning run. Maxvill Field has no outfield fence.

That broke a tie after Bon-Air tied the score in the fifth. Posey doubled home Watson, who reached on an error. Singles by Decker and Mark Burris sent in the other runs.

Two of Granite City's runs came home on sacrifice flies by John Moad and pitcher Darin Hendrickson with Jamie Hogan's triple driving in the other. The Eagles scored twice in the third and once in the fourth.

Brian Gonterman, who went the distance in the opener, took the loss. He allowed 11 hits, walking one and striking out three. Hendrickson gave up five hits and a walk in eight innings, fanning three.

Matt King, East Alton's second-game starter, took that loss. He went two innings before Marc Vaughn came in and pitched one-hit ball the rest of the way.

Granite City will face Sauget and Valmeyer before the Mon-Clair League playoffs begin Aug. 6. DePew said he's looking forward to a possible match-up with the Silver Bullets in the postseason.

"We enjoy playing each other," he said. "This was good Mon-Clair baseball today."

•Southern —

(who had actually received the red card) got the assist on a goal," Seim said. "They started yelling at the referee and he didn't take it."

The title game was a bit more sedate, without even a yellow card being issued. But goals by Kurt Atkinson and Pat Kane (Jay Ross assisted on both) weren't enough for Southern.

"Steve Van Dyke had a real good tournament and so did Jay Ross," Seim said. "Tim Henson (who shared goalkeeping duties with Fontez Mark) kept us in one of the games."

Against Windy City, Henson played the entire game in goal while Mark played in the field.

"Several key players were hurt," Seim said. "Jerry Lakin (knee) couldn't play the second half (against Pioneer). Mike Verning (ankle) played about 30 seconds this morning and didn't play at all this afternoon."

Seim, like many people, was surprised the Southern Region had only one of its four soccer teams reach the title round.

"We didn't have a good year," Seim said. "We had a good team up there and some good, talented kids who worked hard. If you look back, without a few breaks, we wouldn't have been here (playing for the gold), either."

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 meets

Ann Pates, president, opened the recent meeting of the Eagles Auxiliary 1126 with the Pledge of Allegiance and a flag being presented by Vera Johnson, conductor.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting. The president welcomed members back from the 46th annual state convention in Effingham and congratulated all for their awards and certificates received for their work with charities.

The president announced that "Fuzz" Hagnauer had been named the state grandmother by Worthy Aerie State President Arlon Wendling.

Hagnauer, membership chairman, announced that two applications for members were submitted and that eight new members would be enrolled.

The new members are Paula Hubbard, Julie Adams, Evelyn Pates, Betty Taylor, Sharon Stout, Nancy Page, Connie Mitchell and Jeannie Hendrickson.

Helen Mueller, audit chairman, gave the audit report for May. Ruth Jorgensen, Golden Eagle fund chairman, reported that a $500 grant was given to the Granite City Library for continued efforts in purchasing large print books to enable more senior citizens to read their favorite books.

Connie Motil, child abuse chairman, reported that a $5,000 grant had been given to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Joanna Spencer, Jimmy Durante Fund chairman, reported that $105 was given to the Granite City Fire Department for its youth education in combating juvenile arsonists.

Barbara Modrusic, past junior president, presented the following trophies: Vera Johnson, Alzheimer's fund, first place money winner; and Sue Allen, kidney fund. She also presented 100-percent certificates to the following: Jennie Orender, state project (Ronald McDonald House); Helen Mueller, disaster; Martha Simpson, education; Connie Motil, child abuse; Kathleen Benda, cancer; and Fuzz Hagnauer, Golden Eagle.

Modrusic recognized Millie Weatherford, first place winner for visual aides entry at the convention for the depicting of the membership theme, "Love and Friendship are Special."

Mildred Boyd and Billie Schuler were awarded second place for their publicity book. Flo Stokes was given honorary mention for her president's book. These books were then presented to the past junior president.

Angie Buehler, captain of the escort team, brought home first place in the state competition. The escorts escorted the dignitaries into the opening meeting and initiatory session at the convention.

Sandy Hahne announced that the auxiliary is planning a car wash to aid charities on Aug. 27 at the Eagles home, and also that they will have a dessert sale on Friday, July 29.

The meeting was followed with refreshments and a social hour with entertainment. The next meeting will be July 28.

Reuben to speak at local church

Rev. Dick Reuben will be ministering at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly July 23 through 25.

He will be speaking about "Understanding the Jewish Roots of Believers." The church is located at 4650 Maryville Road. The services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening and also at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, July 24.

Reuben ministers using full-scale reproductions of tabernacle furniture and the priestly garments of Aaron. Through these beautiful teaching aids, he shows how the patterns of the Old Testament are revealed in the New Testament Church.

Born Jewish, Dick and his wife, Deanne, currently live in Indiana. They travel throughout the United States ministering about the Passover, feasts and tribes of Isreal, as well as the Tabernacle teaching. Reuben sought for many years to understand the question, "How does the church relate to Isreal?" Now, he shares in detail the great truths he has discovered with the Body of Christ. The Jewish Tanakh (Old Testament), for example, is the picture of the New Testament revealed. Dick believes God's principle of pattern revelation, as given in the Tabernacle of Moses, has not changed.

The services are open to people of all faiths. Pastor Mark Maynard welcomes all to attend these inspirational and informative teachings. For more information, call 931-4106 or 931-0342.

Green thumb — Mike McGrath, editor of Organic Gardening magazine, provides gardening tips at a recent lecture at Belleville Area College. Approximately 75 students and area residents attended the program that was sponsored by the BAC Office of College Activities, and the college's horticulture club. McGrath stressed the value of using natural gardening methods instead of chemical pest controls and fertilizers.

Ceremony held to dedicate Illinois Obelisk

Several area residents attended a dedication ceremony for the Illinois Obelisk ensuringing the names of the Medal of Honor recipients of Illinois.

The ceremony was held June 23 in the Medal of Honor Grove at Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

In 1987 and 1988, 22nd District American Legion Auxiliary President Margaret Payne of Cahokia and 22nd District American Legion Commander Robert Muir of Belleville had as their special project the raising of money to replace the fiberglass obelisk with a marble obelisk at the Medal of Honor Grove. More than $13,000 was realized through the donations from posts, units and individual members for this project.

Illinois had had 203 Medal of Honor recipients since 1861. The Medal of Honor is the highest award that can be earned in the United States Military. In order to earn the medal, a service person must perform a deed "above and beyond the call of duty." The deed must be such that if the person had not performed the deed, no one could fault him or her.

Participating in the ceremony were Robert W. Miller, president and chief executive officer of Freedoms Foundation; the Color Guard of Headquarters First Squadron of the 104th Calvary of Pennsylvania Army National Guard; Robert J. Poshard, director of Illinois Department of Veterans Affairs; Major Gen. Donald W. Lynn, adjutant general of Illinois; Lee Gladish, bugler from the Illinois National Guard; and Capt. James Johnson, chaplain of the Illinois National Guard.

Special laying of the memorial wreath was done by Brenda Edgar, first lady of Illinois. Special remarks were made by Gov. Jim Edgar. Dedicatory remarks were made by Medal of Honor recipients Clyde Choate of Anna and Margaret Payne, past 22nd District president.

Attending from this area were Dorothy Hinson, past department president of the American Legion Auxiliary from Venice-Madison Unit 307; Mary May, project chairman from Belleville Unit 58; Agnes Hartman, past Fifth Division president from Cahokia Unit 784; Margaret Payne, past 22nd District president from Cahokia Unit 784; and Ted Hartman from Fairview Heights American Legion, who represented Arthur Rawers, department commander.

The Medal of Honor Grove is an acre of land with trees and the monuments at the center. Each tree is dedicated to one of the recipients from that state. It was started in 1964 and completed in 1987.

Northwestern University

Linda Mettes of Chicago received a juris doctor degree from Northwestern University's School of Law at the university's 136th annual commencement exercises June 18.

Mettes, daughter of Harold and Lee Dupont of Granite City, graduated from the University of Illinois in 1989 with a degree in engineering. She was on the dean's list. She will be joining Kenyon and Kenyon, New York, as a trademark, patent and copyright attorney.

University President Arnold R. Weber conferred 198 juris doctor degrees to School of Law students.

Northwestern University is one of the nation's leading teaching and research institutions, with 17,500 undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in 12 academic divisions at lakefront campuses in Evanston and Chicago.

University of Illinois

Nine Granite City students were recently named to the dean's list for the 1994 spring semester at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Jo Ann Baum and Sarah E. Stone were named from the school of agriculture.

Craig D. Leavell, Scott A. McMillan and Richard N. Repp were named from the college of engineering; Stephen J. Schaus, Rebecca A. Schwab and Dean R. Sheikh from the college of liberal arts and sciences; and Young S. Suh from the college of fine and applied arts.

Dean's list eligibility is limited to the top 20 percent of a student's college class or curriculum.

Illinois State U.

Jane M. Hicks and Timothy M. Wilson, both of Granite City, and Sheila D. Marshall of Madison have completed requirements for the bachelor's degree at the end of the spring semester at Illinois State University in Normal.

Illinois State University, the oldest public university in Illinois, delays the announcement of graduates until the office of admissions and records can verify the completion of academic requirements for graduation.

Hicks and Wilson received bachelor of science degrees. Marshall earned a bachelor of science in education degree.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

During the hot summer months, it is important to apply sunscreen, but it also is imperative to reapply it after swimming, excessive sweating or after more than two hours exposure to the sun.

Fresh Picks

Summer squash — zucchini or yellow are most common varieties — should have a fresh, healthy-looking peel without scratches. It should be heavy for its size and tender. Choose small to medium sizes. Refrigerate and use as soon as possible.

Big Fat Tip

When traveling, keep munchy low-fat snacks handy. Trail mix made with whole-grain cereal, dry-roasted unsalted nuts or seeds, pretzels, raisins, dried apricots and bananas, and low-fat cereal itself keep well in a car or backpack.

Future Shop

Flavor, flavor, flavor is the keyword in what people want from food. When traveling, be aware that consumers in various parts of the country have different expectations — particularly in the hot and spicy category. People who have barbecue potato chips once in a while should ask questions about what they are ordering when they visit a part of the country where hot peppers are served as a snack.

RE-FRESH-MENTS

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Boxes, baskets and trailers loaded with fresh, luscious, colorful produce come from all parts of the country.

Peaches hail from places as diverse as California, Washington or trees right here in Midwestern back yards. Some local orchards have an unusual phenomenon this year with plentiful summer peaches, but a slight crop of apples anticipated for fall.

Peaches — an early variety is red haven — are available from local produce stands now.

Both Schlueter's Orchard in Belleville and Eckert's in Bonne Terre hope to be open this weekend for pick-your-own peaches. Schlueter's also offers nectarines for customer picking. Aug. 1 is the estimated starting date for U-pick at Braeutigam Orchards and Eckert's, both in Belleville. When planning to pick your own fruit, it is wise to check with the orchard before going there to make certain it is open.

In spite of a sparse crop of blackberries in other parts of Illinois, Braeutigam Orchards reports its pick-your-own blackberry patch produced about 100 percent of its capability.

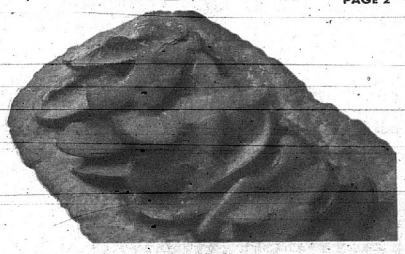

The aroma, consistency and flavor of home-grown produce yields to the reality that all good things have their limits, so longer growing seasons extend the time those refreshing fruits are available for summer palates and plates.

California peaches, plums and nectarines peak by the end of August, but their season extends through September and, in the case of peaches, through most of October. The 1994 crop of bartlett pears began arriving last week and will extend to mid-November.

For a free 96-page booklet of fresh fruit recipes, write to: California Summer Fare, Department EC-94, P.O. Box 255383, Sacramento, Calif. 95865.

For tips on cutlery — which includes a guide to keeping it in shape for diverse uses like slicing nectarine pie — phone or write for a free 24-page booklet, "How to Choose and Use Cutlery Guide." Call toll-free (800) 828-0448, department NS94, or write to Cutco Cutlery "Cutlery Guide," 1116 East State Street, Olean, N.Y. 14760.

Kids' Cuisine

KA-BOB IT!

Kids love to play with those juicy fruits before eating them. Save sticks from frozen pops so they can kabob fruits.

Set them up at a picnic table. Younger children have more success using fruit without peel — melon, strawberries, banana, peeled peaches, pineapple or orange chunks. Older ones can add large grapes and blueberries to their kabobs.

Sprinkle with a bit of cinnamon or lightly crushed cereal and eat right away. A dip adds grown-up fun, too. Fruit-flavored yogurt puts on a nutritious twist. For sweet fun, dip in chocolate or strawberry syrup.

Today's Food

Marinade maximizes flavor, tenderizes meat

Wise Ways

By LINDA S. BLUMENBERG

A health-conscious cook values marinades for flavoring lean meat, poultry and fish. Meat steeped even a short time in a marinade picks up complex flavors, making salt unnecessary. Given enough time, it helps tenderize meat, too.

Essential marinade ingredients include some type of acid, plus flavorings. Acid tenderizes meat, as well as adds flavor. Alone or combined, vinegar, lemon juice, tomato juice and wine are good choices for the acid.

Lemon or other citrus juice, white wine or dry vermouth matches mild flavors of pork, poultry and fish. Stronger flavors — red wine, red wine vinegar and fortified wine — complement beef and game.

The dish's character determines which herbs, spices or other flavorings to add.

For example, garlic, soy sauce and ginger add Oriental flavor, while cumin, chilies and cilantro complement southwestern food. Crush or cut fresh herbs very finely to extract maximum flavor while the meat is in contact with the marinade. A small amount of oil, like flavorful sesame or olive oil, helps coat the meat and flavor it.

Marinate the meat according to its size. The bigger it is and the less surface exposed, the longer it takes.

Strips or cubes of meat for skewers need as little as 30 minutes to absorb flavors from marinade, while a roast takes a whole day. Longer times also are needed if tenderizing a less-tender cut is an objective.

For safety's sake, marinate meat, poultry or fish in the refrigerator, not on the counter. Use glass or plastic containers to avoid any reaction between the acidic ingredients and metal.

Placing the mixture in a plastic bag, then laying it in a glass or plastic bowl takes the mess out of mixing ingredients so all meat surfaces come in contact with marinade.

For basting meat as it cooks, set aside some marinade before pouring it over the raw meat, or mix a fresh batch just for basting to prevent contaminating cooked meat with uncooked meat drippings.

Marinade used on the raw meat can be made into a sauce only after heating to a full rolling boil. Add other sauce ingredients and cook to at least 160° before serving.

Honey-Garlic Pork Chops are delicious cooked outside on a grill or on the kitchen broiler. Using reduced-sodium soy sauce halves the sodium content of this recipe.

Rice or noodles and a salad of greens and fruit make excellent complementary side dishes.

HONEY-GARLIC PORK CHOPS

- 4 boneless, center cut, pork loin chops, 1¼ to 1½ inches thick
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ¼ cup honey
- 2 tbsp. reduced-sodium soy sauce
- 1 tbsp. dry sherry or vermouth
- 2 cloves garlic, minced

Combine lemon juice, honey, soy sauce, sherry and garlic. In covered container, refrigerate about ¼ cup marinade.

Pour remaining marinade over chops in heavy plastic bag. Seal. Refrigerate 4 to 24 hours, turning meat occasionally.

Prepare covered grill with drip pan in center, banked by medium-hot coals. Grill chops 16 to 18 minutes, turning once and basting occasionally with reserved marinade, or broil chops 5 inches from heat source 13 to 18 minutes, turning once.

Makes 4 servings; 260 calories, 10.5 g fat (36 percent calories from fat) and 466 mg sodium each.

Private Lable Test Run

Shredded cheese blend stays sharp in competition

A blend of colby and Monterey Jack cheeses under the Dierbergs label turned into the Suburban Journals' Private Label Test Run favorite flavor of the week.

The tasters considered the blend a good match and well done in the product. They tasted it straight from the package and also melted it on English muffins in a microwave oven.

"The taste is really delicious on the bread," one tester said.

The more they tasted it, the more foods they considered as mates — from casseroles to apple pie.

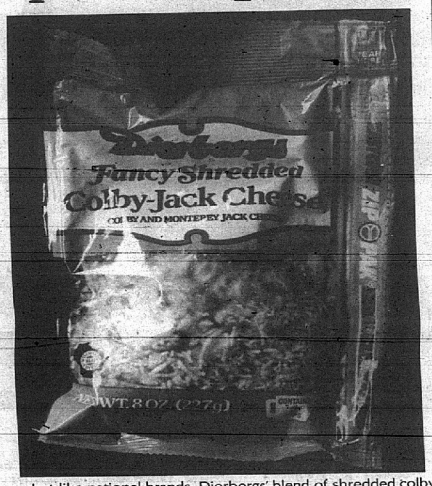

"This would be perfect on nachos with a little salsa," one tester said.

Another agreed with him, adding it would probably mesh well with a sprinkling of seasoned meat on the nachos, too.

One tester noted the colby-Jack product was consistent with national brands that present cheese in its most convenient form — finely shredded in a handy reclosable bag.

It is priced at $1.99 for an 8-ounce package, as much as 50 cents less than a national brand.

The aroma and flavor of the cheeses in the package ranked prime in attracting some testers.

Just like national brands, Dierbergs' blend of shredded colby and Monterey Jack cheeses comes in a recloseable bag.

"I don't even want to put any seasoning on it to put in nachos or other foods. It is full-bodied enough as it is," one said.

Locally it's summertime and the scoopin' is easy

Living Lean for Adults

By TERRI EDELSTEIN

St. Louis — with its tradition of having invented the ice cream cone at the 1904 World's Fair — is no exception to the rule that Americans love ice cream.

Mention the word "concrete" here and no one thinks of sidewalks first.

Frozen dessert lovers are faced with more than deciding between vanilla, chocolate or strawberry. The array of flavors is mind-boggling, the types of icy treats more numerous than warm nights to eat them.

Far from being a handicap, this is great news for people who want or need to limit fat and cholesterol intake. Instead of high-premium ice cream, they can select a scoop of ice milk, frozen yogurt, sherbet, sorbet or nonfat ice cream.

Sugar-free versions are available, too.

Here is a run-down on them:

• ICE CREAMS: Comparing only vanilla in a ½-cup serving, regular ice cream has about 7 grams fat. Premium ice cream has about 12 grams, frozen custard even more. Reduced-fat ice cream, which spoons up only 2 or 3 grams fat, is not as rich, but can taste just as flavorful.

Nonfat ice cream replaces butterfat with natural ingredients which give a similar smooth, creamy mouthful. It closely resembles the real thing, but lack of fat may result in harder freezing and faster melting.

• FROZEN YOGURT has become the frosty favorite of the '90s. Fat content varies, so check nutrition labels closely. It comes hard or soft; regular, low-fat or nonfat, and with or without sugar. Most have the same ingredients as ice milk — milk sweeteners, flavorings, stabilizers and emulsifiers — with the addition of yogurt cultures.

• SHERBET usually is fruit-flavored and sweeter than other frozen dairy desserts. It has about 2 grams fat per ½ cup.

• SORBET is made with fruit, sugar and water. No eggs or dairy products are used so it is fat-free and refreshing.

• MELLORINE and FROZEN TOFU DESSERT are non-dairy. Fat content varies. Mellorine typically is as high in fat as ice cream and may taste gummy. Frozen tofu desserts range from 1 to 17 grams fat per ½ cup. They rely on various gums and bean curd for creaminess.

Here is an easy ice cream recipe that is light in fat but heavy on flavor.

BANANA FLUFF ICE CREAM

- 3 cups mashed ripe banana (about 6)
- 1½ cups marshmallow creme
- 1½ cups (1 percent) milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla

In mixing bowl, combine banana, marshmallow creme, milk and vanilla. Whisk until as smooth as possible.

Freeze in ice cream maker according to manufacturer's directions.

Makes about 1 quart or 6 servings; 200 calories, 1 g fat (5 percent of calories from fat), 48 g carbohydrate, 3 g protein, 2 mg cholesterol, 27 mg sodium and 70 mg calcium each.

The next "I Love Eating" class will be held from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 27, at the Missouri Botanical Garden, 4344 Shaw Blvd., St. Louis. Admission to the garden that morning and the class is free, but registration is required. To register, call 45-HEART or toll-free (800) 255-9919 from outside St. Louis.

Registered dietitian Terri Edelstein is a member of the nutrition committee of the American Heart Association.

Edy's seeking taste tester

If the job of being king or queen of the world should include eating ice cream as often as desired, the opening for Ice Cream Ambassador for Edy's Grand Ice Cream may be for you.

Edy's will choose an ice cream aficionado from the St. Louis area to test new flavor proposals and enjoy Edy's creamy, icy treats already in the freezer.

The person chosen to fit the job will be taught how to lick, spoon, scoop, swirl and even spit the ice cream professionally by the official Edy's taster.

Those who feel their taste buds are really cool can apply for the position by submitting one ice cream resume — creativity is a major qualifier in the selection — to: Ice Cream Ambassador, c/o John Harrison, Edy's Grand Ice Cream, 5929 College Ave., Oakland, Calif. 94618. Applicants must be at least five years old.

The St. Louis ambassador will be appointed by Oct. 28. Compensation will be a taster's kit which includes a spoon, lab coat, scoop, nutritional information, tasting forms, freezer gloves, a video on tasting techniques and certificates for a year's supply of ice cream.

CRUNCH CRUST PIE

- ⅓ cup plus 2 tbsp. sugar
- 2 tbsp. water
- 1 cup low-fat granola
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) fat-free cream cheese
- ½ tsp. vanilla
- 3 nectarines, thinly sliced

Combine ⅓ cup sugar and water in small saucepan. Boil about 4 minutes or until syrup begins to turn light golden brown. Using fork, mix in granola quickly. Turn onto nonstick or greased baking sheet. Let cool.

Place in plastic bag. Crush with rolling pin. Use two-thirds mixture to line bottom, not side, of 9-inch pie pan.

Beat cream cheese with vanilla and remaining sugar. Drop filling by spoonful into pie shell. Spread gently to level over crust. Top with nectarines. Sprinkle remaining crunch mixture at edge. Chill at least 2 hours before serving.

Makes 8 servings; 115 calories, 1 g fat, 16 mg cholesterol, 107 mg sodium and 2 g fiber each.

PEACH CUSTARD TART

- 36 vanilla wafers, crushed to 1½ cups
- 3 tbsp. honey
- ½ cup sugar
- 6 tbsp. cornstarch
- 1 egg
- 1 egg white
- 2 cups nonfat milk
- 1 tsp. grated orange peel
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 5 fresh peaches

Preheat oven to 375°.

Mix crushed wafers with honey. Press in bottom of 9-inch tart part with removable bottom. Bake in preheated oven 12 minutes or until crust becomes crisp and begins to brown.

In bowl, mix sugar and cornstarch. Whisk in egg and egg white.

In medium saucepan, scald milk. Slowly whisk into egg mixture. Return to saucepan. Over very low heat, cook mixture, stirring constantly, until thickened. Use whisk to keep smooth as it thickens. Stir in orange peel and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm.

Chop enough peach to measure 1 cup. Add to custard filling. Turn into tart shell. Chill.

To serve, slice remaining peaches — dipped in 1 cup water and 1 tablespoon lemon juice to prevent discoloring — and arrange on top.

Makes 8 servings; 188 calories, 2 g fat, 28 mg cholesterol, 88 mg sodium and 1 g fiber each.

DESSERT FRUIT PIZZA

- 2 cups reduced-fat biscuit mix
- ½ cup nonfat milk
- ⅓ cup plus 1 tbsp. sugar
- 1 cup low-fat ricotta cheese
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- ¼ cup raisins
- 1 bartlett pear, cored, sliced
- 2 nectarines, sliced
- ⅓ cup reduced-sugar orange marmalade

Preheat oven to 350°. Oil a baking sheet.

Mix biscuit mix, milk and ⅓ cup sugar to form dough. With oiled fingertips, pat into two 10-by-4-inch strips on prepared baking sheet, making it thicker at edges.

Mix ricotta, cinnamon, nutmeg, raisins and remaining 1 tablespoon sugar. Spread into biscuit pastry to ¾ inch of edge. Arrange fruit on top. Dab with marmalade.

Bake in preheated oven 25 minutes or, until edge is puffed and brown.

Makes 12 servings; 217 calories, 6 g fat, 7 mg cholesterol, 394 mg sodium and 6 g fiber each.

SCHLUETER PEACH PIE

- Unbaked pastry for double-crust pie
- ¼ cup tapioca
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- 12 to 16 peaches, peeled, sliced
- 1 cup flour
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ¼ tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- ½ cup (1 stick) butter
- ½ cup chopped pecans, if desired

Preheat oven to 400°.

Line 9-by-13-inch pan with pastry, bringing up sides.

Mix together sugar, tapioca, lemon juice and peaches. Let stand 15 minutes. Pour into pastry-lined pan.

Mix flour, brown sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and butter until crumbly. Stir in pecans. Sprinkle over top of pie.

Bake in preheated oven 40 to 50 minutes.

ECKERT'S PEACH CAKE

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- ½ cup (scant) boiling water
- 2 to 3 fresh peaches, sliced (not canned)
- Whipped cream

Preheat oven to 350°. Butter bottom of 8-inch square pan.

Layer peaches in bottom of prepared pan. Sprinkle small amount of sugar over peaches.

Beat eggs until very light. Beat in remaining sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time. Add flour and baking powder at one time. Gradually add water. Pour over peaches.

Bake in preheated oven 35 minutes. Do not remove from baking pan.

Serve warm or cooled. Turn each serving upside down with spatula. Top with whipped cream.

Makes 9 servings.

Micro Raves

By SANDRA HOUNSOM

Peach, microwave cross finish line hand-in-hand

Many homemakers readily punch in the numbers to cook summer's bounty of fresh vegetables in a microwave oven, but don't realize fruits are a natural for the handy appliance as well.

Peeling large quantities of fruits, like peaches, is a time-consuming chore. To make this easier, measure 4 cups water into a 2-quart microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on high power 8 to 11 minutes until boiling. Immerse 3 or 4 peaches in hot water 1 to 1½ minutes, then place in cold water. The peaches can be peeled easily at that very minute. Reheat the water to boil as needed for remaining fruit.

Peaches, a native of China, made a circuitous route to the New World by way of the Spanish. Today's supply is in the middle of the greatest annual availability in the U.S..

That golden-pinkish blush on a peach's skin does not necessarily indicate ripeness. Select peaches whose skin between blush areas is a creamy-yellow color and slightly soft, but not mushy, to the touch. Let mature or ripen fully at room temperature, then refrigerate uncovered.

Fully ripe peaches are heavenly eaten as is, but also make a delicious topping on ice cream, frozen yogurt or angel food cake or in a pie — with all preparation a breeze in a microwave. This dessert, courtesy of Cooking Light magazine, can be made up to 8 hours ahead of time.

SPICED PEACH TOPPING

¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 tbsp. almond-flavored liqueur, such as Amaretto
1/8 tsp. nutmeg
1 stick (3 inches) cinnamon
1 lb. fresh or 1 pkg. (16 oz.) frozen sliced peaches, sliced, thawed if necessary

In medium microwave-safe bowl, microwave brown sugar, liqueur, nutmeg and cinnamon 3 to 4 minutes, stirring every minute, until mixture boils.

Add peaches. Cook 2 to 3 minutes, uncovered, on high power until peaches are slightly tender. Discard cinnamon stick. Cover. Chill.

Serve over angel food cake, vanilla frozen yogurt, other mixed fresh fruit or ice cream. Yields 2 cups; 81 calories, negligible fat, 21 g carbohydrate, no cholesterol and 1.2 g dietary fiber per ½-cup serving.

Punch wins; Grill recipes next

Barbara Dailey, St. Charles, is the winner of this week's recipe contest for her party favorite, Fruity Punch. For it she wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Company.

Her fruity combination was an inspiration when a friend asked her for a punch recipe for a party. Everyone gave it rave reviews and wanted to know what cookbook she had used. She herself now serves it whenever she has guests. By freezing part of the punch, no extra ice is needed and the liquid is not diluted as ice melts. Sometimes she adds a little rum to "punch" it up.

Recipes in the Barbecue Recipe Contest will be accepted through July 31 for consideration as winner each of the five weeks in August, giving an extra week for a possible win.

Send one recipe per household to: Barbecue Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Suggested entries could include a barbecued main dish, side dish or dessert, a barbecue sauce or a marinade.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. It will be part of the basis for selecting winners, along with taste and eye appeal. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the source of the recipe.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

FRUITY PUNCH

1 can (64 oz.) pineapple juice, chilled
2 cans (12 oz. each) frozen lemonade
4 lemonade cans water
½ gal. pineapple sherbet
1 liter 7-Up, chilled

Mix together apricot nectar, pineapple juice, lemonade and water. Pour some mixture into plastic bowl and freeze. Refrigerate remainder.

To serve, pour refrigerated mixture into punch bowl. Float frozen mixture in center of punch. Add 7-Up. Scoop sherbet around frozen mixture.

Variation: Add a little rum to taste.

Layer sweet and sublime over oatmeal cookie crust

In the world of cookies, bar cookies are a must in any baker's repertoire because they are the most versatile type.

One-for-All Oatmeal Bars were created with a basic crust for fillings that suit any occasion. For summer requirements, the oven needs only to hold one pan going in and out with most of the heat staying inside.

The crust uses pantry staples — oats, flour, brown sugar and margarine — mixed in a single mixing bowl. Three different fillings range from sophisticated to kid-pleasing to indulgent, with a tinge of wholesome due to the oats.

Very Berry Streusel Bars are very simple. They use fresh fruit in season — frozen for year-round enjoyment — with lemon zest for accent and a light coating of raspberry or strawberry preserves.

Definitely decadent, Chocolate Chip Cheesecake Bars are easy, too. Just five ingredients go into a creamy filling, with a double chocolate variation requiring cocoa as well. For a no-fuss finish, sprinkle a few of the chocolate mini chips on top before baking.

Peanut Butter and Chocolate Bars, three layers high, are candy-like with a crisp oatmeal cookie base, a smooth peanutty filling and thick layer of chocolate on top. Cut them in small squares and watch them disappear.

ALL-FOR-ONE OATMEAL BARS

- 1½ cups uncooked oats, quick or old-fashioned
- 1¼ cups flour
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ¾ cup (1½ sticks) margarine or butter, melted

Combine oats, flour and sugar. Mix well with margarine. Follow variation directions.

VERY BERRY STREUSEL BARS

- 1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries
- 1 tsp. flour
- ½ cup raspberry or strawberry preserves
- ½ tsp. lemon peel, if desired

Preheat oven to 350°.

Reserve 1 cup oatmeal crust. Press remaining on bottom of 8- or 9-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated oven 13 to 15 minutes until light golden brown. Cool slightly.

PEANUT BUTTER AND CHOCOLATE BARS

- 1 can (14 oz.) sweetened condensed milk
- ¾ cup peanut butter
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) semisweet chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350°.

(See BARS, Page 7C)

Cool menu sparks wilted appetites

Sometimes familiar things seem new again, particularly during hot summer days when a cool bit of refreshment must entice tired appetites to the table.

A taste of Cool Carrot Ring is like a breath of fresh air. This chilled gelatin salad combines creamy cottage cheese with crunchy flecks of carrot and sunny bits of hard-cooked eggs. A delicate nip of aromatic dill seasons the mixture.

It can be used when entertaining at brunch or lunch, or as a side dish for a family meal.

COOL CARROT RING

- ¾ cup water
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup low-fat cottage cheese
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tbsp. minced green onion with tops
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. dill weed
- 1½ cups shredded carrot
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- Fresh dill sprigs, carrot curls and extra hard-cooked egg wedges, if desired

In medium saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over water. Let stand 1 minute. Cook and stir over medium heat about 1 minute until gelatin is dissolved.

Remove from heat. Blend in cottage cheese, mayonnaise, onion, lemon juice and dill. Stir in carrot and chopped egg.

Pour mixture into 3-cup mold. Chill several hours or overnight until set.

Unmold on platter. Garnish with dill sprigs, carrot curls and egg wedges.

Makes 3 to 4 main-dish or 6 to 8 side servings.

'Alternative' music not so alternative

By Bill Beggs
Correspondent

"ALTERNATIVE" ROCK? Lollapaloozers, those fans of the cult genre that's become more mainstream, now can hear their music of choice on pop-music radio stations. Once the grungy, rebellious music of Nirvana went multiplatinum a few years back, it's seemed that the more "modern" the rock, the more it's successful.

1. Kim and Kelly Deal are two members of what band that is on this year's Lollapalooza bill?

2. What dreamy song by The Cranberries, the Irish band's breakthrough hit, started its climb on Billboard's pop and modern rock charts late last year?

3. What California band, some would say unfairly compared to Pearl Jam, first charted with the song "Plush"?

4. What No. 4 hit from the spring of 1991 has been the most successful in the 30 for R.E.M.?

5. Who leads The Pretenders, whose biggest hit so far was "Back On The Chain Gang," a No. 5 hit in the winter of 1983?

6. On "Stone Free," the recent Jimi Hendrix tribute album, what song was remade by "mope-rockers" The Cure?

7. With an Elvis impersonator as a lead singer, what band made its mark doing cover versions of Led Zeppelin tunes — reggae style?

8. What smash from the summer of 1983 was the biggest hit for The Police?

9. Before he formed Porno For Pyros, what band did Lollapalooza co-founder Perry Farrell lead?

10. What hit from last summer marked the chart comeback of chanteuse Aimee Mann? (Extra credit: In 1985, she was a member of what band, which had its biggest hit that year with what song?)

ANSWERS: 1. The Breeders 2. "Linger" 3. Stone Temple Pilots 4. "Losing My Religion" 5. Chrissie Hynde 6. "Purple Haze" 7. Dread Zeppelin 8. "Every Breath You Take" 9. Jane's Addiction 10. "I Should've Known" (Extra credit: 'Til Tuesday; "Voices Carry")

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Be as diplomatic as possible and avoid alienating an official. Plan a surprise or gift for an unsuspecting romantic partner. Colleagues are envious of financial successes. Short trips lead to new alliances.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Set a good example for a child. Explore latent talents via classes or private lessons. Haggle over prices with a brilliant salesperson. A spouse or lover is in the mood for love. Cut loose this evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Cease beating around the bush. A love interest shares your point of view. Vocational seminars may not be worth the expense involved. Avoid expecting too much from a relative — he or she is only human.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Treat an elderly colleague or relative with respect. Avoid making any more exceptions to an important rule. A new acquaintance comes on strong. Family members offer you financial support. Be firm.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). A raise or bonus makes a special project possible. Let an insecure lover know how impressive he or she is. An employer grants a request. Settle a bet with a friend or colleague. Avoid intimidating a subordinate.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 20). Both emotional and financial savings are traded for fantastic dividends in the next 10 weeks. An absolutely new outlook makes August a turning point in every area of your life. Love pushes you toward lifestyle changes in October. A Sagittarius or Libra will bring luck and travel in November. Hold off on marriage until May of 1995. Your windfall months are November, January and February.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Refuse to compromise your morals for love or money. Last-minute cancellations leave your schedule wide open. A former platonic friend reveals his or her romantic intentions. Colleagues seek constructive criticism.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Clear up a misunderstanding before it progresses further. A creative outlet becomes a potential source of income. Avoid abusing your power at school and the office. Succumb to romantic impulses this evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). A confused lover asks for time to him or herself. Avoid squandering time and energy on a colleague's faulty schemes. Uncomfortable living arrangements aren't worth the money saved. Start a trend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Choose your words carefully when breaking unsettling news to a relative. Love thrives when it has plenty of room to breathe. Avoid catching friends off guard. A windfall brings endless possibilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Break with what is comfortable and familiar, and strike out into the unknown. Love affairs become even more passionate. Review financial alternatives. Take on additional responsibilities on the job.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Act on impulse, and a lover is delighted. Approach work and school assignments from unorthodox angles. Plan for the distant future as well as the here and now. Luck involves a new source of cash.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Curtail extravagant spending habits, and put money aside. Extend an invitation to a close friend. A spouse or lover demands a change of domestic arrangements.

Hormone replacement therapy helps many menopausal women

Hormone replacement therapy can free many menopausal women from a jail of misery.

"I think hormone replacement therapy is a topic every woman wants to learn more about. There have been lots of mixed signals in the media, but the news is mostly positive now," said Dr. Gerard Malnar, obstetrician and gynecologist on staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City.

Hormone replacement therapy is for women who have either gone through natural menopause or have had their ovaries, which produce estrogen and progesterone, surgically removed.

"Estrogen replacement therapy was initially given to patients to relieve symptoms of menopause," Malnar said. "When patients go through menopause they have a variety of symptoms that can be quite distressing."

One of the classic symptoms is vasomotor flushes or "hot flashes." However, menopausal women may also suffer from insomnia, develop problems with depression, experience painful intercourse, and show more nervous irritability.

"These symptoms are quite distressing to patients," Malnar said. "Doctors found estrogen deficiency produced the symptoms, and gave patients estrogen replacement so they would be more comfortable. That was the initial thrust of estrogen replacement therapy."

Initially, there were questions as to whether estrogen was harmful or helpful. There were concerns about whether estrogen replacement could cause illness.

"Basically, doctors did not know because there had been no long-term studies," Malnar said. "There were a lot of hypotheses about estrogen playing a role in endometrial or breast cancer, but we really did not know."

Later, doctors found estrogen therapy not only helps menopause symptoms, but is also helpful with other problems that are common in women who are post-menopausal — osteoporosis and heart disease.

And most long-term studies show estrogen replacement therapy has no adverse effects in relation to causing cancer.

"Patients who were studied have a lower risk of developing osteoporosis and associated problems, specifically hip fractures," Malnar said. "We have shown the use of estrogen reduces osteoporosis by 75 percent. Estrogen therapy is very helpful in preventing this very common problem in post-menopausal women."

According to Malnar, until they go through menopause, women have a lower risk of heart disease than men. The agent protecting women is estrogen.

"It increases certain lipid levels that protect the heart from the development of coronary artery disease, atherosclerosis, by increasing one component of cholesterol, high density lipoprotein (HDL) and decreasing yet another component, low density lipoprotein (LDL)," Malnar said.

"HDL cholesterol tends to inhibit the formation of plaque in the coronary arteries. It is also known as the 'good cholesterol.' Estrogen replacement gives post-menopausal women an HDL and LDL ratio that is more protective toward the heart.

"Studies show women who are on estrogen replacement therapy and who get breast cancer typically get better acting breast cancers or cancers that do not act as aggressively in the patient," Malnar said.

Women who are given continuous estrogen have only a slightly increased risk of endometrial cancer.

"To prevent this, doctors also give patients, who still have their uterus, progesterone, which protects them from developing endometrial cancer," Malnar said.

Overall, studies have shown women who are on estrogen therapy have a tendency to have less aggressive tumors, or tumors that do not invade as rapidly and are more responsive to conservative therapies.

"There was a study of patients on estrogen therapy who developed endometrial cancer compared to women who did not take estrogen therapy or develop endometrial cancer," Malnar said. "If you look at longevity only, the study found women who took estrogen therapy lived longer.

"The women on estrogen replacement therapy, even though they had been treated for endometrial cancer, had fewer probelms with heart disease and osteoporosis and associated problems.

"Heart disease and osteoporosis are more likely to develop in post-menopausal women than is endometrial cancer. When the women got endometrial cancer, they were typically cured of the disease because it is typically a local acting cancer that is operable. The women taking estrogen replacement therapy lived longer because of other benefits of estrogen."

Many women still feel they would rather take chances with heart disease or osteoporosis.

"Nothing makes patients more fearful than the prospect of cancer," Malnar said. "However, if you don't take the hormone, you are more likely to have a heart attack or develop problems with osteoporosis than you would ever have of developing an endometrial cancer, if estrogen replacement therapy is prescribed in an appropriate fashion."

Another long-term study looked at the effects of estrogen replacement therapy on breast cancer. The study looked at the incidence of breast cancer in nursing-home patients over a ten-year period. It found that estrogen was not causing cancer, but even had a protective effect.

"The study was set up so some women were given estrogen and some received a placebo," Malnar said. "After 10 years, the researchers approached the women not on estrogen, explained the benefits they had found and offered them the chance to begin estrogen replacement therapy."

According to Malnar, a number of the women began taking the hormone. The researchers then looked at the women for another 11 years. At this point, 120 women were on estrogen replacement therapy and 80 were not on the hormone.

"The only women who got breast cancer during the study were the ones who were not taking estrogen replacement therapy.

"Women who were taking estrogen replacement therapy did not get breast cancer," Malnar said. "This doesn't say estrogen protects against breast cancer, but it shows that is is not likely to increase the risk of developing breast cancer."

According to Malnar, many women are taking a very active role in their health care.

"Many patients are very interested. They are having problems with menopause because of classic symptoms or they have concerns about other health problems.

"For example, they have a family history of heart disease or a parent who had problems with osteoporosis or died as a result of complications from a hip fracture. They want to do what they can to prevent these problems," he said.

"Women are living longer now; over one-third of their lives are spent in menopause, so it is a considerable amount of time to spend without estrogen. It would be difficult if we were only living five or 10 years beyond menopause; then estrogen replacement therapy would not be that helpful, but women are living 30 or 40 years beyond menopause."

There are many different estrogen and progesterone replacement compounds available.

Estrogen comes in oral form or in a patch. Progesterone only comes in oral form at this time.

"There are a wide variety of choices, and all have different side effects," Malnar said. "So it is a matter of tailoring therapy to the particular patient.

"Whatever they tolerate best is what is best for them.

"No agent has a clear advantage over others, but it is important that it be easy to take. It is one thing to send a patient home with a prescription for estrogen replacement therapy. It is another thing when she gets home.

"Is she going to take it every day so she can really get the benefit from the therapy? If the therapy is difficult to take, then patients are less likely to comply with it."

Man wants to reward sandbaggers for their help

By James Barrett
Staff writer

Glenn Smith wants it known that he hasn't forgotten the men, women and children who helped him and his family save their North St. Louis County home during the flood of '93.

Volunteers who helped the Smiths save their house at 11762 Riverview Drive are invited to a reunion and barbecue at the Smith home sometime during the next few weeks.

Because Smith does not know the names of most of the sandbaggers, he does not want the date of the barbecue published in order to avoid gate crashers.

"Many were just a first name, if that," said David Gottlieb, who owns a public relations firm in New York.

Gottlieb, a volunteer himself, said the reunion was his idea. Anyone who helped the Smiths sandbag last summer can find out when and where the barbecue will be by phoning (314) 741-7259 or (314) 947-4805.

"I want them to know I haven't forgotten them," Glenn Smith said. "I didn't get a chance to thank most of them . . . we want to show our appreciation for what they did."

Smith resides on Riverview Drive with his wife, Carole, and daughter, Janine.

The house is just about restored, he said, noting that most of the water damage was confined to the floors and carpets.

"It did get into the house enough to ruin the floor and carpets," Smith said. "We did have to move out for two or three weeks in July," and rent an apartment.

Smith's family business was not as fortunate. Glenn's Auto Body, which is located directly behind the house, was flooded out.

Smith repairs wrecked cars and sells them. The shop is now back in business. However, Smith said he did not keep track of the cost of renovating the house and shop.

"But, all those people coming out to help me sandbag," he said. "And then you never see them again."

The six-foot levee still stood as silent witness to the determination of dozens of strangers.
